RACKET CHIEFS FLEE CHICAGO

Chicago, May 8.—Internal Revenue agents who have joined local authorities in the drive against gang and labor racketeers, have turned their attention to William Johnson, wealthy gambler, it was learned today.

He, along with William Skidmore, political "fixer," Murray Humphreys, successor to Al Capone, and Thomas E. Maloy, "ear" of the Motion Picture Operators' union, is among the 14 gang and labor leaders who are being investigated for possible violations of the income tax law.

Authorities said that many of the high-ups in gangland had fled the city as a result of the nationwide city and Federal campaign against the racketeers.

Investigators estimated today that Chicago's tribute to racketeering organizations would total $387,000,000 this year if it is not broken up or checked. This is more than the cost of the city's government.

Police Guard South End Tailor's Shop

Reports of "protection racket" threats brought a police guard to the tailor shop of Samuel Woodworth, 457 Tremont st., South End, today. Woodworth said, "Give up or we'll close your shop." He had previously been told he must contribute to a fund for striking clerks, he said.

True to Type Anderson Goes on Telling Tales Naturally

By GILBERT SELDES

Sherwood Anderson has announced that the game is up—particularly what is called the writing game. He says there's little in it now and that he is turning his face toward Hollywood. I sincerely hope that Hollywood turns his face to Anderson because he is a type which Hollywood lacks—the born story-teller. Anderson has clever men and other men who invent neat plots and can keep you excited; but the spinner of yarns hasn't had his chance in the pictures for a long time—the man whose stories flow out of him easily and in a continuous stream, an stories that flowed out of Anderson for many years. In fact, it is a good ten years since one of his stories, "I'm a Fool," suggested to me a moving picture in which Mabel Normand promised to take not the lead but the secondary part. She seemed to mean it, too; that story, one of the first half dozen ever written by an American, captivated her as it captivated readers of high-brow journal newspapers. It was the perfect expression of one side of Anderson's talent.

A Great Yarn

I am, myself, a fool about that story because I happened to be opening the mail the day it arrived at a magazine office—a manuscript made ragged by Anderson's angular corrections. It was his first story, and I recommended it to the editors and a pleasure to receive dozens of requests from newspapers all over the country for the right to republish it the day after it appeared. So if I say that Anderson's "Death in the Woods" has no story, moves me, much, put it down to personal reasons. The new book has ten stories—some slight sketches. They aren't all masterpieces, but they all reveal again the talent which separates Anderson from most of the others in his craft. In spite of outbursts of expression which may seem mannered, Anderson is a natural writer. He has the right gift.

A Subtle Study

The exact opposite in style is Conrad Allen's "Great Circle," but this does not mean that Allen lacks the talent. Only that it has been far more developed and that Allen has a delicate style, not wanting in power, with which he can handle the most complex emotions. In this case it is primarily jealousy. The journey of his hero on a train to surprise his wife in infidelity with his best friend, is superbly written, giving such an effect of fear and confusion that the reader feels like forcing the climax on the writer. How the "wronged" man is brought to a new relation to his wife is just as subtle, but is not so much a satisfactory. The fault is not entirely Mr. Allen's; it is that the introduction of a psychoanalyst in person to direct the story throws the reader off the line of thought of Freud instead of thoughts of the characters in the book.

Helen Rowland

Helen Rowland has been ill, and her shrewd commentary on men and women, particularly on men and women who they happen to be husbands and wives, has been missed for a long time. She has recovered, on Monday she will be back at work, and she will, I suppose, have all the other writers of daily columns as her readers as ever at the freshness with which she attacks

MYSTERY MAN TO HEAD BANKS

Augusta, Me., May 8 (AP)—A new bank commissioner to take the place of George N. Annis, whose resignation was accepted by Governor Louis J. Brann and his executive council Saturday, probably will be named today. Annis resigned after an inquiry into his department by the governor and council, at the conclusion of which a high state official said there had been "much criticism" of the commissioner's administration as a result of the closing of Maine banks in the past two months.

No intimation of who will succeed Annis has been made. Last week Governor Brann said the new commissioner would be a man who had not been active in politics and was experienced in the banking business. Annis was appointed in 1929 by Governor William Tudor Gerdner. Previously he had been deputy commissioner for several years. His term would have expired in two months.

R. I. Wet Delegates Cast Repeat Votes

Providence, R. I., May 8 (AP)—Gov. Theodore F. Green today will call together at the State House the convention of 31 delegates, who will vote on behalf of Rhode Island for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. His action forced by the 7 to 1 vote of the Tuesday's special election, the vote will be a mere formality.

BOMB IS AIMED AT CHURCH

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 7.—The undersigned, hit back today at the ministers engaged in a crusade against racketeers and vice as it attempted to bomb the North Side's Second United Presbyterian Church.

The answer of the ministers was a protest in the form of a letter against organized crime. The Rev. Dr. Samuel M. Long, pastor of the threatened church and other ministers called a meeting of Business Leaders.

Meanwhile the Better Business Bureau attacked the existence of the "four thieves," a gang preying on bankrupt merchants and the general public through false auctions of millions of dollars of shoddy goods throughout the district.

Fabulous tales of tremendous revenues running into the millions and suspected collusion with government officials were called into the bureau.

A patrolman found the bomb fuse extinguished by the rain, in a hedge in front of the church. It was later learned that Dr. Long and the Rev. Dr. W. S. Boyd, of the North Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, have received threats against their lives since they and other pastors demanded that the new city administration clean up conditions on the North Side.

SUICIDE WAVE SWEEPS REICH

Berlin, May 8 (AP)—Ernest Katz and Frau Katz, anti-law and anti-lawyer, were among the victims of a suicide wave in Germany which has committed suicide in Germany over the weekend.

Former Mayor von Brauer of Leer, Dr. Gresser, official of a Stuttgart textile company, and Nelly Rappach, former German tennis champion, were others. The latter suicide was attributed to ill health.

The list of forbidden books was increased today in add to the names of the students. Three throughout Germany on Wednesday. Additional book burnings were held by the Americans, Jack London, Helen Keller and Boris Hilguth, New York Socialist. Meanwhile libraries were ordered to have from two to ten copies of Hitler's book "My Fight" on hand.

WASHINGTON, May 8 (US)—War on racketeers and their gangsters and killers is developing along two lines.

The preliminary study of the subject by Attorney-General Cummings is to be supplemented by a far-reaching inquiry by a sub-committee of the Senate Commerce Committee.

The Department of Justice is developing a plan to bring about complete co-ordination between the federal and state governments and as soon as the pending economic and unemployment legislation is out of the way, the President will direct the attention of Congress to the racketeering evil.

Senator Copeland, of New York, chairman of the Commerce sub-committee, will conduct, at 1:30 p.m. today, to investigate all forms of racketeering during the recess of Congress, upon which a report will be made.

No Losing in Home Ring

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

United States is staging world's greatest comeback and can't lose in its own ring with a home referee.

Only things that worries most people is who is going to get slapped with the price of the ring.

Some of the big boys are getting nervous knowing that the fastest cove got milked first.

Others are trying to raise the old battle cry, "Shoot him in the pants, the cost belongs to me."

However, it looks like we will all get our cost of tax vermin, spread very evenly over 120,000,000 people. And that's the way to do it.

Willing hands make light burdens, as the boy said when he grabbed the votes on behalf of the Eighteenth Amendment. His action forced by the 7 to 1 vote of the Tuesday's special election, the vote will be a mere formality.

Former Bay State Dead

Livingston, Mont., May 8 (AP)—A. W. Miles, former state senator, is dead here. He was born at Westminster, Mass.

What Are You Going To Do About It?

"LET no guilty man escape!" Long ago that commandment was uttered by a President of the United States. The time was 1874, and the President was Gen. Grant.

Something resembling in its small way A RACKET had been developing in this country. It was called the whiskey ring, and Grant would not stand for it. His words were spoken, "Let no guilty man escape!" and the ring was broken up.

What would the hero of Vicksburg and Appomattox think today were he living in the country he once served?

Instead of a SMALL whiskey ring, he would find the country struggling to emerge from its great Prohibition blunder, and ridden by HUNDREDS of rackets which Prohibition bred or fostered.

He would see PROHIBITION GOING—but the RACKETEERS determined to REMAIN.

He would see business men paying racketeers unlawful money for their permission to carry on a lawful business.

He would see workmen oppressed and leveled upon by conscienceless racketeering fake labor leaders.

He would see children kidnapped and sold back to their homes for ransom, or else slain by their merciless captors.

He would see court witnesses intimidated, politics corrupted, and a lethargic people permitting these evils to multiply upon them.

He would see everywhere the ugly symptoms of America's MORAL DEPRESSION. And he would say to his countrymen, in righteous wrath: "Unless these iniquities be stopped, this country will perish."

"What are you going to do about it?"

Aces of White Pine Destroyed

Salisbury, N. H., May 8 (US)—A fire which destroyed 200 acres of forest and brush was held today in a great forest fire which was sweeping from Sand Pond, three miles from here, toward Wells and North Berwick. Much of the woodland attacked by the fire was virgin white pine.

BRITISH DRIVE ON MORATORIUM

London, May 8 (US)—While decrying the idea of a "debt swap," British officialdom launched a new campaign today to obtain a moratorium on the foreign debt payment due to the United States on June 15.

A high British official said neither Britain nor the United States would be satisfied by trading British agreement to the proposed tariff trade for a moratorium on the payment.

He intimated, however, that Britain was attempting to obtain an Anglo-American agreement under which the tariff trade and debt moratorium would mark the opening of the world economic conference here on June 12.

MARY McELWAIN carried away top honors at the One Night with Horses show at the Boston Garden Saturday night... that gal can ride and jump...

The Boston Pilgrims played their usual exciting game of polo... and lost every chucker... "Tim" Clark can swing the ball but the team work... why talk about it? You were probably there and saw it; there was such a crowd it seemed as though everyone who knew what a horse was turned out for this Boston Emergency Relief event... the word polo was a magnet... The New York Orioles played a winning game and seemed in excellent training... Elio Sears awarded the silver mug.

Mrs. Russell Burrage looked very handsome as she sauntered about on the arm of Newell (Pleasure) Bent... she is to be congratulated for heading the committee to a decided success...

Sub-debutante daughter, Miss Alice, a lovely brunette maiden, was in her father's box with Mr. Burrage and Mrs. Forrester Clarke, who was Kitty Burrage...

The Junior League was well represented by the ushers, Miss Katherine Brown, Elizabeth Hovey, Nell Baldwin, Harriet White and Charlotte Hopkins.

Dorothy Cutler was escorted by a swain; Catherine Bowden was the center of a merry throng; Rose Whitman was in Mrs. William Gaston's box with Nancy Shaw and a young group; Lansdale Watson was in a disguise of silvered powder on her pretty curls. Lindy took the part of model in a recent fashion show and allowed her hair to be silvered to display sophisticated costumes, and evidently that platinum effect is easier to achieve than to get off...

The tribute to the last horse of the Battery A was touching and the equine seemed to know what was all about... they lung a garland of roses about his head and gave him the last rites... after the 15th of this month this battery will be motorized.

Spectacular Riding by Troop E

THE RIDING OF TROOP E with vaulting and pyramid riding was the most spectacular part of the program... it looked easy but only those who have tried it know how hard it really is to perform such circus feats...

On our way out we met Catherine Olney in a slinky blue satin headed for more excitement... she never appeared prettier.

We meandered up to the Club Barclay for the last party of the season... Ruby Newman and his orchestra excelled in their last performance of the season and we will hope to see them again in the fall... This popular conductor is planning to go abroad this summer and may we expect a few innovations from gay Paree next season?

Mr. George Fuller and his beautiful wife greeted their large and long-remembered party which included Mrs. Ralph Stuart, in a pretty pink chiffon, Mrs. Raymond Stanley (Mr. Stanley's father was one of the automobile pioneer makers, and old WE used to love our old Stanley steamer), Mrs. Sherwood Smith, Mrs. Theodore Babcock and Mrs. Charles Draper. We take it for granted, as you must, that the husbands of these houses were in the office somewhere but we didn't meet them.

In another group Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Henshaw Whitney, a charming couple who have recently arrived on Beacon Hill from the Quaker City, were with Mr. and Mrs. Lyon Boston (Daniel among the lions), Miss Betty Carney and Mr. Richard Melton.

Catherine Blake Wears White Lace

POPULAR CATHERINE BLAKE was chic in white lace... Katherine Brown wore an adorable fluffy white chiffon... Mary Cowles pink crepe was bound with plaid organdy... Junia Mason was noticeable in a dark blue and white striped chiffon with red belt... we noted a few of the Vincent virgins in the huge throng that stayed to sing Auld Lang Syne and say farewell to the Club Barclay until next season. Prost!

Saw Jean Read and Anne Torbert out at Nutting-on-the-Charles the other night... (titter!)

The annual meeting of the Junior League will be held on Tuesday, May 9, at 11 o'clock at the League. The business of this meeting will include reports of the members of the League's activities and the election of officers for the coming year. All members are welcome.

Miss Theodora A. Hersey, one of Boston's youngest artists, is holding an exhibition of her work at the Junior League Galleries from May 8 to May 22. Miss Hersey is specializing on child art and her work includes children's portraits in pastel and decorative art for the nursery and playroom. These include wall decorations, murals, screens and furniture motifs. She is at present giving a series of talks over the N. B. C. studio WBZ which touch upon important details of decoration for children's rooms.

Annual Exhibit by Children

ON TUESDAY, MAY 9, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., the children from Lincoln House will hold their annual exhibit and sale of handwork in the exhibition room of the Junior League. The work is done by children between the ages of 10 and 16 and includes bags, bibs, runners, aprons, towels and other small articles. Miss Harriette M. Ellis and Mrs. H. J. Brown are in charge of this branch of Lincoln House.

The Junior League Lending Library will close for the season the first of June. Beginning May 8 today, every book in the library will be on sale at a greatly reduced price.

The Freshman Jubilee of Harvard takes place on May 26... chairman Philip Weld, brother of Philip Weld who was one of the prominent debaters of this season, and grandson of Mrs. Philip Saltonstall is busy with arrangements.

ELIZABETH SCAIFE WILL WED IN MILTON

Reception Follows Afternoon Bridal

on June 21

St. Michael's Church in Milton is to be the scene for the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Scaife, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger L. Scaife of Central Ave., Milton, when she becomes the bride of Mr. Albert J. Beveridge, Jr., of Indianapolis and Beverly Farms.

Miss Scaife has selected Wednesday, June 21, and the ceremony is to take place at 4 o'clock, with a reception to follow at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Scaife's engagement was announced last December by her parents. This well known young society lady is a member of the Junior League, to which she was elected in her coming out year, 1932. She is also treasurer of the Vincent Club, and is a graduate of Milton Academy.

Her future mother-in-law, Mrs. Albert J. Beveridge, with her daughter, Miss Abby Beveridge, have recently arrived home from a trip over to Europe, where they have been for the past three months, chiefly in Germany.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of the late Senator Beveridge, and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Eddy of Chicago. He attended St. Mark's School and was graduated from Depue University (his father's college), with the class of 1932, and is at present studying at the Harvard Law School.

Chatty Notes of Social Circles

MR. AND MRS. ROGER E. MILLIS of Winthrop, Md., Brookline, returned yesterday from a month's visit to England and Scotland. While in Scotland they were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. George Smith Frye, Mrs. Pryde was before her marriage Miss Florence Hill.

MR. PAUL M. HAMLEN OF Gloucester st. has gone South to Hot Springs, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson Perkins of Westwood are planning to travel down this week to attend the Davis Cup tennis games between the tennis teams of Canada and Cuba, which will be played on the Homestead courts.

THE FORMER RALLY PORTER, Mrs. O. Delphin Amundson, with her husband, of Joy st., are leaving Boston today with their small daughter, Henrietta Wigginworth, for an extended holiday to Norway in the Kungsholm.

A MEETING OF THE 47 Club takes place this evening at the home of Mrs. Gertrude T. Loud of 8 Gracewood pk., Cambridge, when Mr. William E. Harris will give an address on "The American Drama of To-

Points About the Fashionables By Dorothy Whipple Fry

MRS. HENRY LAPHAM of Brookline is appearing at many social functions this spring, always smartly garbed and looking most chic and in a mode. She wore a blue ensemble to the Black Alley Fair. Her hat was of brown, blue straw, with a very snappy white bow as trimming.

Mrs. James Newell wore a very chic black smock with a fascinating picture hat that was exceedingly becoming to her.

Mrs. Alvin Fuller is always as smartly frocked. She looks well in her chaste ensemble of printed silk, with a smart red hat to match, and what a gorgeous, past-colored scarf—lovely colors, charmingly blended. She has caught the spirit of the occasion and reflected it in her toilette.

Mrs. Walter Baylies, Jr., appeared smart and attractive in a brown and white checked sport suit and nice on her.

Miss Martha Chapin looked like a breath of spring in a blue foulard frock with cape effect, edged with white, and a smart, wee, blue straw hat perched on her curly bob.

Saw Mrs. Forrester Clark in Boston, gay as a bird on the wing, and wearing a lovely frock of blue with red touches. She does know how to dress.

Mrs. Charles Inches is another of the Boston society matrons who is looking smart in a checked creation with a bright scarf, very attractive and smart on her.

Mrs. Robert Almy, being slender and petite, wears tweeds and sport hats nicely. Her special shade this spring is tan.

Mrs. Thomas Woods, who is such a striking blonde and looks an attractive in her spring regalia, is arranging for demonstrations of auto cars.

Miss Florence Hill, sister of Beacon st., is such an interesting young person. So one can wear these new plaid sport ensembles more attractively than she; and one of these little white hats of brown is too becoming for words to her youthful good looks.

Mrs. Walter E. Evans of Brookline is giving a luncheon at the Ritz-Carlton on May 17 in honor of Miss Priscilla Phelps, who is taking her guests on to the matinee at the Plymouth Theater, where "Allen Corn" is being presented that week.

ANOTHER OF THE LATE season debutantes, Miss Jean Engstrand, is to be the house guest at a costume barn dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton P. Edwards at their Swampscott estate on Saturday, May 28.

BEATRICE de MENOICAL

BOOKS—And a Number of Things

—By Charles Hanson Towne—

LOOKING only through the eyes of the assembled girls, but there were none who fell prone in the orchestra or gallery. A Montague today would find himself on a bit on the Western Coast, and save through his fan mail he would never know how he was adored along Broadway, and in every hamlet big enough to contain a picture house. (Copyright, 1933)

"His eyes were brown," stated the brief note that recreated him for us, "his hair was brown and curly, and his manners were perfect. It was said he went out at night like a man, but like a gentleman; and when, as Manuel in 'The Romance of a Poor Young Man,' he realized that he and his haughty heiress were locked in the castle for the night, and when he leaped from the tower rather than compromise to girl—the ladies in the audience used to swoon right and left."

Ah! Those romantic days in the theater! They are gone and will not return. The center aisles must have been a whirlpool of young women, and ushers must have rushed down with reviving salts, and bedlam must have been let loose.

Who faints at anything nowadays? And where are the glamorous heroes who used to thrill the feminine portion of the audience? Following Montague we had Kylie Bollew, of whom Mrs. Cox Brown Potter has been writing in her memoirs in Compagnie; but ladies had ceased to faint at the time he came along, with his noble head and his flawless figure, and a profile like a medallion.

Olis Skinnor, in romantic parts, captured many onlookers; and John Drew, urbane and witty, sparkling wit, awayed multitudes in drawing-room comedies. But these were not Harry Montague. Southern came too, and then James K. Hackett, and William Fawcett, and we had, in single roles, men like Fritz Emmet, the yodler, Chauncey O'Rourke and Scander—German and Irish tenors whose top

PROGRESSIVES RUSH PUBLIC WORKS PLAN

By BENNETT CLARK
Washington, May 8 (AP)—Impatient with administration delay, three Progressive Senators, cut of New Mexico, Colorado and California and leaders of Washington city rushed completion of a $100,000,000 public works program. It was estimated the measure would provide work directly and indirectly for between 50,000 and 75,000 persons.

Clayton said she had probably would be introduced early in the Senate after the conference this afternoon to finish the drafting.

The bill proposes a federal public works administration, with members of Congress and local officials to review and approve projects. It would provide back money to projects that have been delayed.

Under national control, money will be distributed out of the federal treasury. Local money to projects estimated to be completed within 180 days will be paid down. Other projects will be paid down in 180 days.

Clayton said the measure should be left unamended, by passing it in the Senate. The bill would be subject to a vote on May 10.

Division of the three projects to be allocated was proposed by a majority of the Senate. The bill was passed by a vote of 70 to 20.

LINDBERGH IN CAPITAL TODAY

Columbus, O., May 8 (AP)—None the wiser from holding a secret conference that forest them to land in an isolated section of the Texas panhandle and a day after night in the r-r camp, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh plan to reach Wash. today.

The only one couple expecting to go to live there, they had expected to arrive in Kansas City, shortly after their return to and landed at Port Columbus for the night at 8:30 p. m.

"People shouldn't worry," Col. Lindbergh said of the Texas experience. "It was better to land," he added, "than attempt to go through a sandstorm."

The Lindberghs were landed down in the blinding conditions a few hours after their flight from the capture of the Lindberghs. The plane is expected to land in the Texas panhandle at 8:30 p. m.

You Americans take our best Tobaccos—

It's no wonder your cigarettes are good

Tobacco now makes up one-fifth of all the exports of the Republic of Turkey. From the districts famous for producing the finest Turkish, most of the crop is shipped to this country.

Of the Samsoun crop 70% is exported to America; 68% of the Smyrna crop; and even greater percentages of the crops of Xanthi and Cavalla.

The reason Americans go so far for a special kind of tobacco is . . . FLAVOR. This flavor is so important to a blended cigarette that efforts have been made to raise Turkish tobacco in this country—in California and in the South. But every effort has failed. And when real Turkish is left out you miss its rich, spicy taste and rare aroma.

In Chesterfield the right amounts of the right kinds of Turkish are cross-blended with mild, ripe domestic tobaccos. You can taste the difference.

CHEWING GUM AS A CURE

TEACHING AFFLICTED TO TYPE
(Can you beat it?) They're using chewing gum for a curative agency for vocal and physical defects at the Boston Speech School for Crippled Children. Here you have Yvonne Kodray with her instructor, Rosemarie Shea. Of course Yvonne isn't taught in chewing gum, as she did for the photographer, but she is one of the lots that is being experimented on in the gum chewing cure. At the Boylston St. headquarters of the school many forms of bringing back power to afflicted arms and legs are carried on. Anthony Greco, 13, an infantile victim, who is rapidly gaining use of his hands and legs, is shown below. He can even run a typewriter now. (Boston American Photos.)

Boy, What a School! Gum Chewing Gets an Official O. K.

Gum chewing is the latest educational wrinkle in Boston. It is being used at Boston Speech School for Crippled Children, 1043 Boylston St., as a curative agency for vocal and physical defects in the pupils. It was revealed today when Emma Grinnell Tunnicliffe, founder of the school, introduced the gum-chewing feature in the curriculum as an experiment, and soon discovered its benefits to children pupils.

"The little ones revel in the gum," said Mrs. Tunnicliffe. "They chew gum to their hearts' content. The chewing exercise their jaw and neck muscles and strengthens their vocal organs. A gum manufacturer generously keeps the children supplied. The gum has made a marked mental and physical effect."

Mrs. Tunnicliffe's classroom has deep interest and human appeal. The children are told that when they were 7 years old and their landlady in early childhood prompted her to found the school and dedicates her life to boys and girls thus afflicted.

There was little Eddie who could not walk and ride a bicycle. Eddie wants to be a winner when he grows up. He worships here.

Betty, 12, who was speechless can now converse with you. Greco, a big boy of 13 victim of infantile paralysis. He can walk, is a fine singer and has learned to operate a typewriter with increasing proficiency.

Miss Rosemarie Shea is one of the instructors. She conducts singing and reading lessons to develop articulation.

"We use vocal methods, gymnastics and above all psychology," said Mrs. Tunnicliffe. "The power of suggestion is effective. Every case is different. We are terribly handicapped by not having a resident school. I have to take the children to and fro from their homes every day."

"The parents of most of them are so poor that I have had to keep them in shoes and clothing, but hard times have made that difficult of late. Two or three of them are now badly in need of shoes, if any charitable person cares to help."

"Stammering, cleft palate, partial paralysis, tardy speech, improper coordination of mind and muscles are only a few of the ailments daily afflicted with by the founder of the school and by a small staff of assistants."

JEWISH CHAMPION BOYCOTT IS URGED BY INTER-RELIGIOUS LEADERS

5-10 YEARS FOR 'MARTINI' PRISONER

Robber Who Twice Took Short Terms Gets Real Sentence

The "voluntary sentence" came into prominence today when George Martin, 22, of Stanford St., West End, told Judge Louis S. Cox all about it. At Martin's trial, it was just about the champion voluntary sentence taken in this vicinity.

But unfortunately his colloquy with the judge ended with the imposition of an involuntary sentence of five to ten years in State prison for breaking and entering.

Martini, who acted as a co-conspirator, was found guilty by a jury of breaking into two chambers and getting $100.

"Your honor," he said, "I place myself upon the mercy of the court. I am an innocent man."

"An innocent man, eh?" asked Judge Cox. "How about this voluntary sentence against you on your record here?"

"Oh, yes, your honor, the time I took the sentence," asked Martin. "I don't know what you took," said the court.

"Well, your honor," said the defendant, "I recall taking a sentence and the judge wanted to suspend the sentence in Charles St. jail and kept paroled in two years."

"Ah, but here is another count of stealing an automobile," said Judge Cox.

"Oh, yes, to be sure," said Martin. "That was another voluntary sentence. It was better hanging over me."

In one of his restaurant breaks, Martin put on a white coat and kept a mop handy thereby outwitting police who twice found him in the act of everything was all right.

HEATER BLAST ROCKS HOME

Two Minutes Margin of Safety for Family; Vicinity Rocked

Just two minutes separated Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flaherty of Prospect St., Norwood from probable certain death in a blast which wrecked their home last night. It was revealed today.

The couple had been visiting friends and were returning home when the blast occurred. They were within escrow of their house as the explosion blew out the walls of the house and tossed furniture about wildly. The arrived home two minutes after the blast rocked the neighborhood.

Furnace was summoned to the scene but their service was not needed as no fire broke out after the blast. They made a preliminary investigation of the blast and expressed the opinion it was caused by the overheating of a water heater. Damage was set at more than $5000.

Neighboring houses were shaken by the explosion which could be heard for miles around. Hundreds of automobiles and nearby residents were attracted to the scene.

At the home of Dr. W. L. LaPlante, next door to the Flaherty home, Mrs. Catherine DePrese, a baby and two young men were in the house when the blast occurred. A large yard in front of the house was shattered.

The Flaherty house was a veritable shambles. All the first floor walls were blown out. In the kitchen, the kitchen range and the ice chest were swept out into the back yard.

Bricks in the chimney and the living room fireplace were scattered all through the house. Some had even blown through the first floor ceiling, tearing ceiling boards and were found in rooms on the second floor.

HEATER POPC AND HOME IS WRECKED

POLICE TO DO SAFETY DRIVE

Will today marking the opening of the second week of an intensive campaign to cut down highway accidents, all constituted authorities of the state were concentrating on the drive directed at violation of the motor laws.

Gov. Ely, in an appeal for co-operation of the public in the drive pointed out that highway accidents must be viewed as common sense, rules, instead of common sense from the statute books. If there is to be a material drop in the number of accidents.

Police Chief Ernest Bishop, of Quincy, president of the Massachusetts Police Chiefs' Association also issued a statement, in which he detailed the police attitude on the drive. He said it had been decided that they would concentrate on the motor law violations, which records showed were responsible for 75 per cent of highway accidents.

EDGERS ONLY SMALL

New York, May 8.—Leading shares generally firm in trading on the New York Stock Exchange today, with changes mostly only small. Rains ahead of the week, while futures were somewhat irregular.

The position of the dollar against European currencies was somewhat mixed in the foreign exchange markets. Sterling and Belgian francs were steady, but the French franc, Swiss franc and Dutch guilder were higher.

BRITISH POUND OFF

British pound was off 3/4 cent at the opening to $3.99 for value. The French franc rose 4 1/2 points at 45.

Cotton and grain moved down in the commodities markets. Bonds were mixed.

A moderate rise started in the second period and volume picked up considerably as many issues were pushed into new high ground. United Fruit was about 2 points higher. Lower common advanced 2 points, the preferred about 1 point. American Can jumped over a point.

Issues showing gains were better included Case, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, U. S. Steel, Commonwealth, C. A. Atchison and Libby Owens Glass. U. S. Steel common and preferred showed major fractional gains. However, fluctuations were largely limited to fractions.

Public addresses of the nation's chief executives, including President Roosevelt's latest statement, while the financial community was interested in the entire account of the President's "stewardship," the major interest was naturally focused on his brief paragraph about inflation.

NO UNDE CHEAPENING

This was interpreted as a pledge to halt the process of cheapening the dollar, but at the same time the President said that he would use such powers as necessary to raise confidence.

Sales of new passenger cars were reported in April as follows: Ford, 12,000; Chrysler, 10,000; General Motors, 11,000; Buick, 8,000; Packard, 6,000; Lincoln, 5,000; Cadillac, 4,000; Oldsmobile, 3,000; Studebaker, 2,000; Auburn, 1,000; and others, 1,000.

These showed April car sales greatly in excess of March. Registrations in the six states were 17.5% against 19.2% in March and 18.2% in April, 1932. The small discrepancy from April last year is expected to be wiped out by reports from other states.

April totals were more than 50 per cent greater than March, although during the same month of April passenger car sales have exceeded March by an average of only 27 per cent over the same month reporting, Illinois and Delaware. April sales exceeded the month of 1932. In the other four states the totals were far apart.

Registering, Chrysler, subsidiary of General Motors Corp., will more than double its production this month over May, 1932. Pres. E. G. Rothery says.

May production will be the largest in any month since July, 1929, more than 700 more cars than in the company's two Dayton plants.

Canada Commodity Prices Are Higher

The immediate effect in Canada of the embargo on gold shipments from the United States and the decline in quotations for U. S. dollars has been an advance in commodity prices, especially wheat, livestock, silver, copper, lead and zinc. Security quotations also have advanced, particularly gold stocks.

Actual trade with the United States has not yet been affected appreciably, the reduction of the premium on the United States dollar has stimulated purchases to a slight extent, but substantial buying has been deferred with the hope that exchange will be more favorable. Seasonal sales are now reported fairly active in the Prairie Provinces and Quebec. Hardware is moving in slightly better volume.

Contract Awards of Week Set Up Record

New York, May 8.—A record of the major contracts for the San Francisco-Oakland bridge, aggregating $27,000,000, coupled with a string of contracts for three tunnels on the Colorado River aqueduct, and a number of other contracts for engineering construction contracts reported for the week ended May 1 to 24-08,000, the largest total annual sum since November, 1931, according to figures compiled by Engineering News-Record.

Jim Crowley's Day
25 Years as Coach
In School Service

I salute old Honus Wagner, greatest shortstop baseball has known, who is here as coach of the Pirates.

They gave old Honus one of those days over in Brooklyn last week. There may not be much sentiment left with baseball magnates, but the fans still love their oldtime heroes. There were 12,000 in line in a parade before the game. All out to honor old Honus. Postmaster General James A. Farley forgot duties of State long enough to journey to Brooklyn for the festivities.

"Wagner is one of the great characters of baseball," said the colorful Pie Traynor today. "When I first joined the Pirates, I used to be used as an extra fungo hitter. They had special light bats for the regular fungo hitters, but I was obliged to use a regular bat."

Mr. Boston "One day I picked up a bat and took it behind the grandstand where I had it planed down so that it was quite light. I was later told it was Wagner's bat

"I took a seat at the end of the bench and trembled as the Dutchman prepared to take his turn at bat. He picked up the planed bat, hurried to the plate and whacked the first ball pitched against the left field fence. He never mentioned anything about the bat. He could hit the ball with any kind of a bat. He was the most natural hitter baseball has known. I am tickled he is back with the Pirates in the capacity of coach. He knows a tremendous lot of baseball and will be able to help every player on the team."

Wagner broke all the rules of batting. He did not wait for a ball to cut the center of the plate before he would take a belt at it. I have seen him step across the plate, and hit a bad pitch for Hughey Duffy, Red Sox scout, delights in telling how he tried to ride old Honus when he came to bat in a game at Philadelphia. Duffy at the time was managing the Phillies and was coaching at first base when Honus came to bat.

"The Dutchman will choke up," piped Hughey. "He'll be an easy out."

Wagner made no reply. He finally cracked a triple to center field. When he reached third base, he looked over at Duffy and shouted, "That's the way you used to hit 'em in the old days, Hughie."

The Braves will have to improve on the brand of baseball they displayed in their three games with the Cubs if they are to halt the Pirates. The noble experts, and they are occasionally right, agree the Pirates have the best club in the National League.

Jim Crowley 25 years in Boston School Service Today
James H. Crowley, Jim to you, was all smiles when I met him today.

"I have rounded out 25 years of service in the Boston schools today," replied the assistant director of physical education.

Jim Crowley has reason to be proud of his record as an athletic coach and physical director in the Boston schools. I first met Jim when I was a student at the High School of Commerce in Boston. He coached all the athletic teams, and did a mighty good job of it. He was only out of East Boston High a few years. He had been a member of the East Boston professional basketball team which won the Eastern championship. Judge William H. McDonnell of the Charlestown District Court, who later studied law with me at Northeastern University, was a member of the same team, and played basketball as well as he can. He can throw basketballs

Back to Jim Crowley. In addition to coaching at Commerce he also was at English high, Jamaica Plain high and at East Boston. In 1925, he was promoted to the position of assistant director of physical training. He is in charge of the physical education of 90,000 children. Jim still is interested in basketball.

"I consider basketball a great sport," he told me. "I wish it were permitted in the Boston schools. It would develop our boys physically, and furnish them with the kind of aggressiveness so necessary for success in business."

Jim, Jr., plays third base and captains the Boston College baseball team. They call him Sunny Jim. A chip of the old block! I hope Sunny Jim's dad remains on the job in the Boston school service for another 25 years. His presence at the helm in athletics will mean sound minds in sound bodies. A boy's type of man is Jim Crowley. Good luck Jim. And congratulations!

Random Shots at the Target

Charley Gordon's wrestling show at Mechanics Building tomorrow night has no opposition... It is one of the best shows of the week... Ed Flowers, world's middleweight wrestling champion, will oppose Al Adams, former champion of the world, in the main bout. The Armines of the West, Al Decker and Althrough, will clash in a special bout... The next boxing show will take place at the Arena a week from tomorrow night when Les Brouillard will test punches with Sammy Slaughter... Slaughter knocked out Norman Conrad in his Boston box and feels he will defeat Brouillard... That story about a $250,000 offer for Jack Sharkey's services from a Los Angeles syndicate sounds like a pipe dream... Anyhow John Buckley says Sharkey intends to bring along with the New York Express which has paid the champion $1,000,000 during the past year.

The Pirates, pace setters of the National League, the Indians, the Cubs and last, but not least, the Cardinals were the teams that did the big things in major league baseball last week.

The showing of the Cardinals was perhaps the best of them all, yet in winning four games out of five, they only divided honors with the Pirates.

They did, however, give a lesson

Since Harvard, the Lion's nearest rival, has only a single game, with Princeton on Saturday, there is no chance for the Crimson this week to overtake the leaders.

The Pig Green nine for the moment is out of the running as are Penn, Cornell and Princeton Yale. The latter two have come fast and will have to be reckoned as a contender.

Admission to the game will be 50c for the first 1000 and 25c for the balance. The gate will be used to make up the account by collecting $3 runs on the 10 tickets held their opponents in 10 fall.

Wagner carried overtopping and best all-around player not picked in the National League. The Pirates will find our Braves in their most dangerous mood. The natives are always at their deadliest when they have dropped a series or two and they start again!

COOK-COOS

By TED COOK

(Copyright, 1933, by the Boston Evening American)
In order to counter the anti-French sentiment in the U. S., France's Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour has had $15,000 appropriated for propaganda purposes.
And in explaining why it is necessary, he starts out to combat anti-French feeling in a big way, announcing:
"The American people go to no trouble to inform themselves."
"We must place under their noses some simple truths."
"An American may honestly call his best friend just to prove he is the stronger."
"The American people are ignorant of their own history."
"The Quai d'Orsay assures the technical and financial control of the Associated Press."
"But on the other hand," reflects the Right Rev. Wiley, "what the people don't know won't hurt! The people they don't know they don't know about."

"The sale of alcoholic beverages should not be allowed as incident to amusement."—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of the Methodist Board.

Though liquor maketh beasts of men, Regardless of how it is used, The drinker is a bit amused.

Oh, it is obvious and clear That every upright man is blue— Should be illegal to serve beer Except to guys who'll weep into it.

Awk.

Mr. Alexander, our favorite harbor, whispers this one in our right ear—

A candidate for governor in Georgia was explaining to his audience how his friends had pressed him to be a candidate.

"In fact," he exclaimed, "the office of governor has been following me for the last 10 years!"

Just then a tall man in the audience arose and shouted— "That's all right. You're gaining on it all the time."

And Bill Meister says Moronia thinks the Stock Exchange is where people go after a bargain sale in history.

A COMPLETE RENTAL SERVICE CO-OPERATING WITH MANAGERS, REALTORS, OWNERS AND OPERATORS

It would seem as if after ten years the Pulitzer Prize trustees have decided to honor the kind of books and plays and poetry which are most representative of the imaginative writing which means most at present. The awards may not be popular. But they are pretty intelligent.
